Questions 36 – 40

The people below all want to watch a television programme this evening. On the opposite page there are descriptions of eight television programmes. Decide which programme would be the most suitable for the following people. For questions 36 – 40, write the correct letter (A – H) in the box.

36. Daniella is keen on stories which include historical detail. She would like to see some kind of romantic drama, especially one which involves travel to different parts of the world.

37. Jamal would like to watch a programme describing funny things that have actually happened to real people in the past.

38. Carlos enjoys finding out about the customs and traditions of societies around the world, so he'd like to watch some sort of travel documentary.

39. Mei Ling is worried about the state of the planet and the future of some of the earth’s animals. She would like to learn more about taking care of the places where they live.

40. Ben is a great fan of science fiction novels, and he'd love to watch an exciting science fiction story about journeys into outer space to discover new worlds.
A selection of tonight’s television programmes

A Mission Moon
This interesting documentary tells us about the early history of space travel, through the words of the people who were most closely involved with it – scientists, technicians and the astronauts themselves.

B Our Living World
Scientist Sven Bergström describes some practical ways we can all stop damaging the environment. He focuses particularly on the rainforests, home to many types of wildlife which are in danger of disappearing, and considers how to protect the unique nature of these areas.

C The Voyage
The Voyage is set in the distant future, in a time when people from Earth can travel to far-away planets in other parts of the universe. Don’t miss the battle scene at the end – it’s got some amazing special effects. The perfect way to escape from reality for the evening!

D The Life of Charles Darwin
This is a very well-made documentary about the nineteenth-century scientist Charles Darwin (1809-1882). It describes his journey to the Galapagos Islands and his studies of the birds and animals there, and explains how he first began thinking about the origins of life on earth.

E Going Green
This is one of the funniest comedy shows on TV. It’s about a family, the Greens, who do some very funny things in an effort to look after the environment. The actors work so well together you almost believe they’re a real family. Tonight they try some crazy ways of saving energy.

F Captain Lacy
This series, based on an eighteenth-century novel, follows the exciting adventures of a brave sea captain as he sails from one continent to another. Captain Lacy has everything – love, war, politics, danger, beautiful scenery and some great costumes. It also gives you a wonderful view on the society of that period.

G Circus Stories
If you want to relax and have a good laugh this evening, watch this! This series is about Chuck and Daisy MacKay, who looked after elephants in a circus in Canada in the 1950s. The couple, now in their 80s, talk about their experiences in a highly entertaining way.

H Discovering Asia
Follow explorer Roberta Mazzi as she crosses the Asian continent, all the way from Turkey to China. In each region she spends time among the local people, learning about their culture and way of life. This is a fascinating and very informative programme.
Lisa Thorne talks about her athletics career

From an early age, I used to chase my brother down the street, so I always thought of myself as a good runner. When I was twelve, I was taken along to the local athletics club by my sports teacher, Mrs Jones. It was thanks to her that I became interested in athletics and, shortly afterwards, I started working with my first athletics coach. After that, I was either training or watching my sporting heroes on TV.

Athletics became my life until I had to make an important decision three years ago. Someone had given me a guitar and I began to write songs. I sent them off to a record company and was offered a contract. So then I had to choose between running and writing songs. I felt sure I could earn more as a songwriter but I wasn't sure what to do. My parents said I could continue songwriting when I was older, and I agreed with them. My decision pleased my coach and, looking back, it was the right thing to do. Having said that, being a professional athlete really does take over every part of your life.

If you are serious about taking up athletics, join your local club. They will help you to train hard – I train six times a week, twice a day. I have Fridays off, so I get a chance to rest before weekend competitions. Your diet is important – I make sure that I eat lots of meat, vegetables and fruit. You also have to give up having a social life and late nights! But, more than anything else, what has got me to the top is believing in myself.

41 What does the writer provide for the reader in this text?
A advice on how to become a successful athlete
B information on the careers of the writer’s sporting heroes
C a warning about the dangers of being a young athlete
D information on how to find out about your local athletics club

42 Who first encouraged the writer to become involved in athletics?
A her brother
B a teacher
C her parents
D a coach
43 Why did the writer decide against having a career in music?
A  She thought she could make more money as an athlete.
B  She worried about having less free time as a musician.
C  She worried about disappointing her athletics coach.
D  She thought she could turn to music later on in life.

44 What does the writer think the key to her success has been?
A  training seven days a week
B  having a good athletics coach
C  eating a healthy diet
D  being confident in her ability

45 Which text message would the writer send to her friend?

A new vegetarian restaurant has opened near me. Let's go on Wednesday evening because I won't be training that day.
```

```
I'm so tired! I was out till midnight for the last two nights. Getting up at six afterwards to train isn't much fun!
```

```
Sorry, I can't come on Friday night. I'm in an important competition on Saturday - I've trained so hard and feel really positive about winning.
```

```
I can't come out tonight because I'm training for tomorrow's competition. My trainer says I should win but I don't think I'm good enough.
```
